

The Daily News.

FRIDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 23, 1866.

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN THE STATE.

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN THE CITY.

THE LIST OF LETTERS REMAINING in the Postoffice at the end of each week is published officially in THE DAILY NEWS every Friday morning.

LOCAL MATTERS.

OUR PRICES CURRENT, containing the fullest commercial and marine intelligence, with valuable tables, will be ready to deliver to our patrons at an early hour this morning.

WE ARE indebted to Mr. VOGLER for late copies of all the New York Dailies, which he receives by mail every night.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.—On account of the press of other matter, we are compelled to postpone the publication of these proceedings to our next issue.

THE ANDERSON PAPERS.—We had the pleasure yesterday of a visit from Mr. JAMES A. HOTT, of the Anderson Intelligencer, and Mr. W. S. WALTERS, of the Anderson Appeal. These gentlemen are in Charleston on business for their papers, and we recommend them to the kind consideration of our merchants.

WANTED AT THIS OFFICE.—A gentleman, having his own conveyance, is wanted, to act as General Travelling Agent for THE DAILY AND WEEKLY NEWS.

An energetic man can make two thousand dollars per annum, and have steady employment. Apply at our office, No. 12 Hayne street.

SINGULAR OCCURRENCE.—A covered box was discovered floating in Town Creek yesterday by Mr. DEWILMINS. Its curious appearance attracted his attention, and he took it in his boat, but was horror-struck, on opening it, to discover enclosed the body of a newly born white female infant. He brought the box to the city and reported the fact to the Coroner. A jury was promptly empanelled, and a verdict of death from causes unknown returned. No clue has been obtained that would lead to the detection of the perpetrators of the infanticide.

WE ARE pleased to learn that Messrs. KEYES, STOWERS and BYRNES have been released from confinement in Fort Delaware, and are now at their homes in Anderson. The Carolinian says: "Our citizens and the people of the State generally, will be gratified to learn that the gentlemen above named, who for so many months have lingered in prison, and while in Charleston were under sentence of death, have arrived in Columbia on their way to Anderson—their home. They leave for home this morning, looking well, and in as good spirits as might be expected under the circumstances of their narrow escape."

THE SUMTER NEWS.—There is, perhaps, no District in this State of more present wealth, and of more prospect of improvement, under the new order of things, than Sumter. With a large white population, rich lands, and a healthy climate, she is destined to take the lead among the interior districts, in every element of true prosperity. Sumter, the Court House Town, is situated on one of our thoroughfares of travel and inland communication, and, already one of the principal towns in the State, bids fair, before many years, to outstrip most of its competitors. In such a locality the press should always be well represented, and in this instance we are glad to say that it is. We know of no better country sheet than the Sumter News. Mr. H. L. DARR, the senior Editor, is well known for his successful professional career; and his partner, Mr. N. G. OSTEN, is a practical printer of long experience. The Sumter News has a large local circulation, and is a good advertising medium. Mr. DARR has for a long time past been an agent of the CHARLESTON DAILY NEWS, and to his energetic efforts we are indebted for many country subscribers.

KENTUCKY LOTTERY ON THE HAVANA PLAN.—The managers of the above swindling machine have been so kind as to address us a circular, purporting to be a private letter, in which they lament the poverty-stricken condition of the South, and more especially the falling off of the lottery business in this State, and wind up by offering to send us a splendid package of eight tickets for the small sum of ten dollars. Were the thing really, as it pretends to be, a private letter, we should take it as an insult to our understanding; but as it is only a circular, we suppose the bait has been thrown to us as one of the many fish among whom the lottery man expects to find an occasional gudgeon. If there are any of our readers troubled with an irresistible desire to throw away good money after bad, and have had that desire provoked by one of those neatly lithographed missives of the lottery man, we advise them to compromise the matter, and do as we have done—send twenty dollars Confederate currency for sixteen lottery tickets.

KING-STREET.—The pleasant weather for the past few days has induced many persons to frequent this fashionable promenade. The stores that line it on either side present so many attractions in their tastefully arranged windows, that the ladies are tempted by the display to take a peep at the interior, and prize the love of a dress, or something else that is equally enchanting. It is easy to pass from a more shopper to a substantial buyer, and, indeed, the goods that are so temptingly exposed on the counters are such alluring baits that it is only a weak pocket that resists the pressure.

But it is in the afternoon that King-street is seen in all its glory. Then the shopping ceases and the gaily dressed crowds that slowly pass and repass before the bewildered vision are merely enjoying themselves and displaying the purchases made previously. It would be a manifest slight, not only to King-street but to the promenaders, to neglect mentioning the ladies, who form by far the principal features of attraction to the idle or fortunate of the opposite sex, who can afford to spend an hour in gazing at the passing beauties.

That Charleston is peculiarly favored in this respect few will have the hardihood to deny, for it is the boast of Charlestonians that the battered city has beauties that outdo it to every heart, and without whom the world would be a howling wilderness. The recent fire in King street destroyed one of the most fashionable resorts where the fair were wont to regale themselves with cream, cakes, and other dainties, but on the opposite side of Marion's still offers its alluring attractions, and the trip across the street is frequently made by the passing divines.

On Friday and Saturday afternoons the crowds are always the largest, for numbers of both sexes who are provoked during the week from enjoying themselves, then mingle with the throng and become a part of the grand moving panorama. It is on these occasions that the connoisseur should present himself; but by all means let him shun the corners if he wishes to escape the angry looks of the fair sex and the smothered execrations of their happy attendants. Rather let him, as best he may, work his way along with a careful eye to all possible contingencies, such as stepping on the ladies' dresses, or some other outré action. It would be far better for him to play the agreeable to the good of the gay and fair, and our word for it, he will see more than he could have done with his unaided eyes.

When the evening shades begin to fall new beauties are added to the scene, and from every store lights gleam upon the slowly dispersing throng. King street is then in a blaze, and the many colored lamps in the drug stores throw a subdued mellow light upon the sidewalk that almost rivals the moonlight. Although our promenade is not as wide as could be desired, yet it is well paved, and with care all collisions may be avoided. It is decidedly the best we have, and the patronage bestowed upon it shows plainly the appreciation in which it is held by the community.

No recreation is more healthy and pleasant than an evening's stroll upon King street, and it is, perhaps, fortunate that all who wish are unable to indulge in this gratification, or the City Fathers would have to widen the sidewalk for their accommodation. To confirmed bachelors and young men who are opposed to matrimony, we would suggest one word of advice: Take at least an occasional walk on King street, and if the bright and beautiful faces seen there do not tempt them to turn Benedicts, they will have to die in their folly. There is no hope for them.

SCHIEF MUSICALE.—There was a large and very select audience at the Hall again last night. The Tableaux Vivants are decidedly popular, and we are not surprised at this; for we do not remember ever to have seen such an union of grace, beauty and loveliness as here present themselves nightly to the view of the enraptured spectators. Each tableau appeared to surpass all that preceded it, but the palm doubtless belongs to "Raphael's Studio," which achieved the most brilliant triumph, and was encored again and yet again.

The twenty minutes intermission was properly improved by the audience. Music and poetry are all very well, but the inner man has his claims, and the elegant array in the lower hall showed that the presiding ladies had made ample preparations for a due recognition of said claims.

Next came the concert. "Infelice," from Ernani, was sung with much expression by one of our best amateurs. La Fille du Regiment, by the lady violinist and piano accompaniment, pleased very much, and was encored; but the lateness of the hour prevents our noticing all the performances in detail. Everything went off admirably.

The ladies have been urged to continue these exhibitions a few nights longer, and yielding to these friendly solicitations, they have consented to accommodate the public again to-night.

TURN VEREIN.—After a long vacation, the Turners have re-commenced their regular fortnightly evening entertainments. The programme opened with a song, rendered in first rate style by a number of good well-drilled Turner voices, doing credit to their preceptor, Professor HOFFMAN.

The prologue, celebrating the re-opening of the theatrical entertainments, was a fine piece of metrical composition, written for the occasion by Mr. VOGLER. It was listened to with much attention, and fully appreciated by the esthetical portion of the audience.

The main feature of the evening was a five-act drama, "Marie Anne oder ein Weib aus dem Volke." There being a year's interval between the first and second acts, we deemed it most conducive to the interests of the DAILY NEWS to leave before the curtain rose for the second act.

MULLER'S band played the interludes.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT, November 22, Hon. GEO. S. BRYAN presiding.—The case of Mrs. MARY HART vs. DE COTTES & SALAS was continued. The witnesses for the respondents were examined. In the course of the investigation many questions of law were raised and discussed by the opposing parties at some length. The further hearing of the case will be continued to-day at 11 A. M.

MAYOR'S COURT, November 22.—A meagre docket and a slim audience was on hand before his Honor, and the gratified looks with which the page was scanned showed the appreciation of the compliment.

A four-looking darkey was charged with raining a row in a ball room, but as no prosecutors appeared he was discharged with a warning to dance and not fight in future, as there was a time for all things.

A wife-mauling case was brought up for adjustment, but the parties gave such a coloring to their statements that it was difficult to decide who was the most to blame, and they were referred to a Magistrate to settle the difficulty.

One of those unfortunate characters who cannot control their curiosity, and will look into a bottle, was picked up in a collapsed state on a door step. It was decided that he was drunk, but he said he was only trying to collect his thoughts. The Mayor gave him a subject for consideration more worthy of his attention, by charging him $5 for his want of thought.

THE EYE AND EAR.—Read Dr. GARDNER'S advertisement.

THE ATTENTION OF real estate owners is called to the advertisement of the City Treasurer respecting city taxes.

THE MARION AND HAMLIN CABINET ORGAN.—This instrument will be on exhibition at the Music Store of HENRY BEGLINO, during this day (Friday). The musical public are invited to call. H. E. MATHEWS, General Southern Agent.

WE REFER TO JOHN COMBES, No. 137 Meeting street, up stairs, nearly opposite Hayne street, where he offers superior manufactured Boots and Shoes at retail. Says they are no paper soles, and from what we hear, he has got styles of Shoes that are to be found in no other shoe store.

PAVILION HOTEL STABLES.—We take pleasure in referring our readers to the advertisement of Messrs. B. RONDI & Co., in this morning's News. We have been long acquainted with these gentlemen, and therefore have no hesitation in recommending them with confidence to the patronage of the public, knowing as we do that they always keep the best stock, both live and wheeled, and that all their customers will be well served.

THE CHARLESTON HOUSE.—To ladies purchasing dry goods for their country friends, Messrs. STOLZ, WEISS & Co. will guarantee to furnish them with a larger variety to select from than any house in the city; also, to sell all articles at as low prices as they can be had anywhere. Will furnish packing cases, any size, free of charge; will take special care in packing and shipping any orders entrusted to them, and will assure all that will call at their store of every accommodation and every attention.

ROSES, EVERGREENS, &c.—All who are resuscitating their flower gardens, and are in want of fine plants for decoration, will do well to notice the advertisement of S. WEISS, florist and gardener, whose long experience in that business eminently qualifies him to give general satisfaction, and at reasonable terms.

SPECIAL TO THE LADIES.—At Mrs. S. J. COTCHER'S Emporium of Fashions, No. 263 King street, can be found the largest and most choice selection of "millinery" in the city, and at the lowest prices. Ladies buying for the country will do well to call and examine before purchasing elsewhere.

Particular attention given to country orders.

DRUG STORES.—A traveller, passing through the streets of our city for the first time, from the vast number of drug stores would come to the very natural conclusion that ours is a very unhealthy city. But appearances are deceitful. People here do not buy more physic than they do in other places; and as regards the hygiene of Charleston, we challenge comparison with any city, North or South. Still the fact remains. Drug stores stare you in the face at every turn. Chemists, pharmacists, druggists and pharmacopoliasts are as thick as blackberries. Just think of it—there are not less than thirty of these interesting establishments in our city, and the cry is, "Still they come."

DIRECT IMPORTATION.—We are much pleased to notice the fact that one of our large wholesale dry goods houses has commenced a direct import trade from England, France, and Germany. We refer to the establishment of Messrs. STRAUSS, VANCE & Co., who have just imported per brig Cardigan, from Liverpool, a well selected stock of fine English and French cloths and cassimeres, merinoes, blankets, worsted dress goods, linens, damasks, &c., &c. Mr. M. STRAUSS, while in Europe last summer, made arrangements for a regular supply of staple and fancy dry goods.

We have examined the various lines of goods constituting the first importation, and can recommend them to the trade as being excellent in quality and moderate in price.
